Changes from the July 2015 version of this document

Due to the widespread use of ebird and the near certainty that any rarity is documented there, updates have relied almost exclusively on the ebird database. Furthermore, currently no rare bird reports are available for any sightings after July 2015. The catalogue will be updated as they become available.

The following species have been removed from “hypothetical” species list of July 2015 and are now in the main body of the catalogue as they now listed on the ebird public records. Thus they are considered tentatively substantiated, pending submission and acceptance of a rare bird report.

1. Barnacle Goose
2. Willow Ptarmigan
3. Great Cormorant
4. Burrowing Owl (location, not identity)
5. Pacific Loon
6. Say’s Phoebe
7. Blue Grosbeak

The following species have been added to the catalogue as they are new to the region since July 2015 and are listed on the ebird public records. Thus they are considered tentatively substantiated, pending submission and acceptance of a rare bird report.

1. Pink-footed Goose
2. Tundra Bean-Goose
3. White-Winged Dove
4. Slaty-backed Gull
5. Anna’s Hummingbird

6. Neotropic Cormorant
7. Sage Thrasher
8. Mountain Bluebird
9. Smith's Longspur
10. Bullock's Oriole

The following species have not had any sightings added to the catalogue since July 2015 since there have been too many and the bird is no longer/ is proposed not to be considered rare:

1. Ross's Goose
2. Trumpeter Swan
3. Eurasian Wigeon
4. Harlequin Duck
5. Marbled Godwit
6. Tufted Titmouse
7. Nelson's Sparrow

The following species have been seen so infrequently in the last few years that they have been tentatively added to the catalogue (sightings from 2015 only)

1. Red Knot
2. Buff-breasted Sandpiper
3. Red Phalarope
4. Cattle Egret
5. American Three-Toed Woodpecker
6. Cerulean Warbler

In addition, the taxonomic order has been revised according to the AOU 2020 update.

Key

Shading:

- Green shading – Accepted - occurrences that have been submitted to the Ottawa Birds Records Subcommittee (OBRSC) and accepted.
- Orange shading – Rejected - occurrences that have been submitted to the Ottawa OBRSC and rejected. Where possible, the reasons for rejection are reported. Rejected occurrences do not mean that the bird in question was not observed, only that the documentation provided to the OBRSC was not adequate to substantiate the identification.
- No shading – Unreviewed – occurrences described in print (Trail & Landscape, North American Birds and its predecessors; the Shrike, the Ottawa Citizen, etc.) or on the internet (Ontbirds, eBird, etc.) but are either not submitted to the OBRSC for review or have been submitted and are waiting review.
- Grey Shading – Historical – records prior to 1969 (the date when regular bird sightings began to be published in Trail and Landscape) for which any form of documentation other than published reports or museum specimens are unavailable.

Barnacle Goose

(Branta leucopsis)

~~BRUS~~
BAGO

There have been about ten records from 1984-2006 all in spring, usually in the company of migrating Canada Geese. Until the mid-2000's, it was believed that all Barnacle Geese in eastern North America were likely escapes. However, a bird banded in Europe was shot in Hawkesbury in Fall 2005, suggesting at least some of the records could pertain to wild birds. The views have changed and as of at least 2020, they are not automatically assumed to be escapes.

1. 29 April 1984; 1 individual; Shirley's Bay, Ottawa, ON; Ray Holland, m.obs.; OBRSC #561.
2. 10-11 May 1985; 1 individual; Masson, QC; m.obs.; AB 39(2):274.
3. 7-12 May 1988; 1 individual; Masson, QC; m.obs.; Ornitaouais 10(3):64.
4. 22 April 1989; 1 individual; Masson & Thurso, QC; AB 43:453, J. Chabot, m.obs.; Ornitaouais 11(3):89.
5. 28-29 April 1990; 1 individual; Masson, QC; R.L. Joe, M.A. Dubois; Ornitaouais 12(3):82.
6. 4 May 1992; 1 individual; Masson, QC; Jean Dubois; Ornitaouais 14(2):49.
7. 20 April 2003; 1 individual; Cedarview Road; Richard Poulin; OBRSC #701.
8. 5 May 2006; 1 individual; Masson, QC; J.F.Jetté, L. Jolicoeur; Ornitaouais 28(4):19.
9. 6 May 2006; 1 individual; Trim Road, Ottawa, ON; Normand Larche; OBRSC #681.

11. 12 September 2020, 1 individual, Station d'épuration, Masson, Gatineau, ebird, m. obs.
12. 4 October-28 November 2020; 1 individual; Presumably the same bird was seen in multiple locations, starting 4-5 October at the Nolan Road Quarry (Prescott and Russell), 10 October at Andrew haydon Park, 12-17 November at multiple places in Cumberland and Navan (Ottawa and Prescott Russell), and finally 22-28 November 2020, at the Moodie Drive ponds; mobs; ebird
13. 22-25 March 2021; 1 individual; Carp road and John Shaw Road, Ottawa; mobs; ebird

Mute Swan

(Cygnus olor)

Cygne tuberculé
MUSW

1. 30 October 1988; 3 adults; pond off Barry Burns Court, in the Stony Swamp, Ottawa, ON; Wendy Palmer, Bob Bracken; OBRSC #418 (A*). Photograph on file with the OBRSC, but could not be identified to species – accepted as Cygnus sp. A supplementary note from Bob Bracken in the OBRSC files indicates that he saw the birds at the time and that they were Mute Swans.

Fall 1989; 2 adults; off of Cedarhill Drive, one adult Mute Swan was found south of the city on 7 December 1989 and taken to the Humane Society. When it recovered it was sent to live with the City of Ottawa swans. It was speculated that it could be one of the birds seen during the fall; T&L 24(3):128 and 25(4):127. This is basically the same location as the record above – not sure what's going on here – either one of they are the same record and the date is wrong on one of them, or they are two different occurrences)

2. 10 April 1991; 1 probable immature; near Osgoode, ON; observer; T&L 25(4):127.
3. 1-3 May 1991; 1 adult; Munster Sewage Lagoons, Munster, ON; Bruce Di Labio Bernie Ladouceur, m.obs.; AB 45(3):439, T&L 25(4):127. Photograph published in T&L.

Hypothetical Species (escapes, introduced, origin uncertain)

Black Swan – one report, Richmond Sewage Lagoons, 11-17 September 1982; Anthony Dale, m.obs; Shrike 7(5):14.

Bar-headed Goose – one record of a bird at Ottawa Beach on 19 June 1987, photographed by Ray Holland. Photo on file with the OBRSC (Image #134).

Egyptian Goose - , present until 21 February 1988 when it was taken into a barn; T&L 22(3):125.

Ruddy Shelduck - 2 individuals; 28 March 1987; Bear Brook; “becoming almost regular of late”, T&L 21(3)?

Baikal Teal – one record, 31 March 1979, flooded fields in the Navan area. This bird was seen by many birders, but its wild origin is still questioned. It was not accepted by either the OBRSC or the OBRC on the basis of uncertain origin. (OBRSC #229, 230)

Northern Bobwhite; 7 June 1982; 1 pair; near Cumberland; John Sankey; Shrike 7(3):11. Presumed escapes.

Whooping Crane – one record of a bird in fields along Timm Road north of Bell's Corners found by George and Helen Spearman and photographed by Tony Beck. The bird was a member of an introduced flock that breeds in Wisconsin and winters in Florida. An overview of the flight path that brought the bird to Ottawa is provided in T&L 41(4):223. OBRSC #647. Photo on file with the OBRSC. A subsequent report to the OBRSC from the Navan area on 30 March 2008 was rejected (OBRSC #677).

Chilean Flamingo - 6 November 1997; Ottawa Beach; T&L 32(2). An escape from a zoo in Connecticut, this was captured and returned there.

Budgerigar - mentioned on the 1993 checklist, any references? IPBO in the 1980's. Britannia Point, 27 October 2013; Ontbirds 31.10.2013

Eurasian Goldfinch – reported nearly annually, often visiting birdfeeders. These birds are all believed to be of escaped origin.

Red-cheeked Cordon-Bleu – Fletcher Wildlife Garden feeders, late August to early September 2014; Ontbirds 03.09.2014.

HYPOTHETICAL SPECIES (IDENTIFICATION UNCERTAIN OR UNDOCUMENTED)

Leach's Storm-Petrel – an adult reported on 4 June 1975 at the Deschênes Rapids was rejected by the OBRSC (#143).

Common Ground-Dove – one report from the Embrun Sewage Lagoons on 16 August 1990 by Frank Munro, which was reviewed and rejected by the OBRSC (#441).

Mississippi Kite – one report of bird observed by Mark Gawn flying low over riparian woods along Sawmill Creek between Walkley Road and Heron Road on 1 May 2003. (Ontbirds 01.05.2003, T&L 37(4):182). Undocumented.

White-shouldered Kite – one report, of a bird observed by Bernie Ladouceur, 13 August 2008 on the trails west of the end of Rue Lamoureux in Deschênes, Aylmer, QC. Awaiting documentation.

Temminck's Stint – one report, of a bird found by Tom Hince and Mike Runtz at Shirley's Bay on 9 October 1982 and subsequently seen by multiple observers and tentatively identified as a Temminck's Stint. Owing to the extreme rarity of the species, it was collected on 13 October and in the hand was identified as a small, but otherwise normal Semipalmated Sandpiper. Shrike 7(5):16.

Sharp-tailed Sandpiper – one report, of a bird observed at Shirley's Bay by Roy John on 14 August 1983. A written report was reviewed and rejected by the OBRSC (#306).

Vega Gull – This gull of northeastern Asia is considered to be a distinct species by some authorities, although not by the AOU, which still classifies it as a subspecies of the Herring Gull (Larus argentatus). Its status in North America is not well-known, but there are two photo-documented Ontario records. "Vega-type" gulls have been reported twice from the Ottawa-Gatineau District without documentation: one in fall of 1989 (reference? T&L?) and Heerman's Gull – On 3 March 2012, a very unusual gull with dark grey mantle, grey belly and white head was found by Mark Gawn and observed for several hours both above and below the Deschênes Rapids from both sides of the River by multiple observers. Although a distant picture was taken, the identification was not conclusive. (OBRSC #756).

Royal Tern – Baie Noire, 12 August 2014, "possible"; Ontbirds 14.08.2014.

Black Guillemot – a small black water bird tentatively identified as a Black Guillemot was found by Dave Moore and seen by multiple observers below the Deschênes Rapids from Britannia Point on 7 December 2011. The bird was killed by a Great Black-backed Gull and the carcass subsequently carried off by a Bald Eagle. (OBRSC #757). One distant photo was obtained.

Marbled Murrelet/Long-billed Murrelet – one report of a bird observed by Bob Bracken on the balcony of 1435 Morriset Avenue west of the Central Experimental Farm in Ottawa, ON on 18 December 1995. Written report reviewed and rejected by the OBRSC (#472).

Small Alcid sp. – one report of a bird seen on the Ottawa River opposite the old Gatineau Dump on 1 December 1978 by Ian Jones, Bob Bracken and Mark Gawn. The bird was suspected to be either a Dovekie or an Ancient Murrelet. A written report was reviewed by the OBRSC and accepted as “small Alcid sp.” (OBRSC #227, T&L 13(2):57)

Monk Parakeet – one report of a bird, presumed to be an escapee, south of Smyth Road, in the vicinity of Lynda Lane from 6 June to at least 16 July 2013 (Ontbirds).

Acadian Flycatcher – There are three reports of single birds banded at Innis Point Bird Observatory on the following dates: 16 August 1997, 24 May 2002 and 6 June 2007. The latter bird was photographed and reviewed by the OBRSC. The Committee sent the photos to several experts who came up with diverging views on the identification, so the report was rejected as identification was inconclusive. (IPBO Annotated Checklist, OBRSC #652)

Gray Flycatcher – four individuals were reported from Kinburn in May-June 2006. A written report and photos were reviewed and rejected by the OBRC (OB 25(2):67).

Bicknell's Thrush – One report of a bird banded at Innis Point Bird Observatory on 30 September 2000 that could not be conclusively identified as its plumage and wing morphology were intermediate between Bicknell's and Gray-cheeked Thrush (IPBO Annotated Checklist).

Rufous Hummingbird – an adult female was reported by Richard Poulin, visiting flowers on his front porch at #46 Alberni Street in Barrhaven, Ottawa, ON on 18 September 2012. The bird was only viewed for 20 seconds and was not relocated. Ontbirds 18.09.2012, OBRSC #766, awaiting review.

Kentucky Warbler – one report of a bird was reported in a deciduous woodlot along the Mississippi River in Carleton Place on 27 September 1975. A written report was reviewed and rejected by the OBRSC (#160).

McCown's Longspur – one report, of an individual seen near Quyon, 13 October 2010 by Jean Dubois. Awaiting documentation.

Streak-backed Oriole – one report of a bird observed in Kinburn by Stephen Bemister on 12 July 2009. A written account was submitted to the OBRSC but was not detailed enough to permit a vote.

Venezuelan Troupial - one report, of a bird observed at Petrie Island on 30 May 2003 by Victor Loewen. A written report was reviewed and rejected by the OBRSC (#567).
